Teesside University takes responsibility for the welfare of young people whilst they attend summer school. As parents or guardians, you are responsible up until the pupil arrives at Teesside University's campus at the beginning of the summer school and once they leave the campus on the final day. On rare occasions it is necessary for pupils to leave the summer school through ill health or for behavioural reasons. In these circumstances the University will cease to hold responsibility before the scheduled end of the summer school. Any travel costs incurred by the University following a break of contract, resulting in removing a pupil, may be passed on to parents/guardians.

Declaration to be signed by parent/guardian

I have completed this section to the best of my knowledge. I understand that I will be responsible for my son/daughter/this applicant up until they arrive at Teesside University's campus at the beginning of summer school and from when they leave the campus on completing the summer school, or earlier if necessary.
